FROM THE PREACHER'S DESK

January 22, 2023

Lord willing, the nine of us that made the trip to Breaking Chains in Tegucigalpa, Honduras will be arriving home later this evening. As of this writing, minus the delay due to airplane issues, we have had a fantastic trip. The work has been hard, but it has been enjoyable. The people we have met are people that we have fallen in love with. We want to thank you for the continual prayers that you have offered our group this week. Now please pray for all of us as we travel home later this afternoon and evening. We look forward to being home with our families and with our church family that we love so much. I will have more to say in this space in the coming weeks.

What an incredible job our young men did leading the worship last Sunday! I was able to tune in and worship for a little while with you while we were waiting to board the plane in Houston. Those that welcomed us to worship, read scripture, gave a discussion thought, led a song, led communion, or gave a message from God's word did an outstanding job. I was greatly blessed by your efforts and I'm so appreciative for the job that you all did. I also want to thank Brett for his great work at organizing this day of worship. I have heard multiple positive comments from the day, and I look forward to the next time that our young men can take advantage of the opportunity to serve in these ways. Thanks again for a wonderful job and leading worship. What a blessed Sunday.

This week, David will continue our "Life on the Vine" series by continuing the study of John 15. I know that you will be blessed by his presentation this morning, and I am grateful for his service. I look forward to being back with you next Sunday to continue this series.
